

Redding Piano Angels

PIANO ACCEPTANCE POLICY

Thank you for your interest in donating a piano to Redding Piano Angels. Our mission is to assist piano students in the acquisition of an acoustic piano. We are committed to obtaining quality instruments for young students who desire to enhance their skills and musicianship.

With this in mind, we must first obtain a little background information on your piano. Please do not be offended if we ask you about the history of your piano. Some pianos require more work than we have resources to cover, so we will require as much detail as possible prior to making a decision. Occasionally, pianos have broken parts or sticking keys, or they have been exposed to extreme elements. The older, heavy upright pianos are frequently from the twenties or thirties and are difficult to move and costly to repair.

It would be best if you could provide as much information to us as you can. Please complete the enclosed questionnaire and return to us. After reviewing, we will advise you of our ability and interest in accepting your piano.

Again, we appreciate your generous interest in Redding Piano Angels, and we hope that you understand our limitations.

Sincerely,

Frank J. Strazzarino, Jr.
